

I'm not a bot

Here are five songs that I thought were related to Macbeth. 1. Seven Nation Army - The White Stripes This song relates to Macbeth because it relates to how he feels in different parts of the play. The lyrics "I'm gonna fight'em off. A seven nation army couldn't hold me back." relate to how Macbeth feels after seeing the three apparitions because he feels like nothing can hurt him. Also the relates to the guilt he is feeling and how Lady Macbeth is supporting him. "And I'm talking to myself at night because I can't forget." this represents when Macbeth cannot sleep because he can't forget about the murder of Duncan. "Don't wanna hear about it, every single one's got a story to tell." this reminds me of when Lady Macbeth tells Macbeth to stay quite and not talk about the murder. 2. Sail - Awolnation :/youtu.be/2CaypEojIKQ I feel this song represents how Macbeth feels when he has to deal with all the guilt and remorse he is feeling. The part of the song that says "Maybe I should cry for help, Maybe I should kill myself." reminds me of how Macbeth is feeling after the murder of King Duncan because he wants to tell someone but he knows he can't because if he does they will kill him. The second part of those lyrics relates to his feelings because he keeps saying he does not know how he will live with himself and is trying to find a way out. 3. Hate - Plain White T's This song relates to Macbeth because all of his friends and the noble men turn on him when they think he killed King Duncan. The song says "I really don't like you." and as the play goes on more and more characters develop a hatred towards Macbeth. Another part of the song says "I thought that everything was perfect. Isn't that how its supposed to be?" This illustrates how Macbeth thought everything was gonna be perfect when he became King but it turned out that nothing went the way he had planned. 4. Another One Bites The Dust - Queen The way Macbeth acts and goes about becoming King is explained in this song because the way he deals with the people in his way to the throne is he kills them. The part of the song that says "You took me for everything that I had and kicked me out my own. Are you happy are you satisfied how long can you stand the heat?" relates to Macbeth killing Kind Duncan for his position and feeling the guilt afterwards. When it says "how long can you stand the heat?" it represents the guilt Macbeth is feeling and how long he can last with it bothering him. 5. Warriors - Imagine Dragons :/youtu.be/VP9i8ZUwKpc The song Warriors relates to Macbeth because Macbeth was a warrior, but he wanted more, he wanted to be King. As the song progresses it says "The time will come when you'll have to rise above the best and prove yourself, your spirit never dies!" to me this represents Macbeth because when he kills King Duncan he feels it is his time to rise above the best and for him to become King. Also the part of the song "Farewell, I've gone to take my throne above." emphasises that he is going for the highest power he can get and does not want to settle for less. Songs such as "The Witches' Dance" by Verdi, "Come Away, Death" by John Dowland, "Macbeth" by Florence + the Machine, and "The Raven" by The Alan Parsons Project are all closely associated with the play "Macbeth" by William Shakespeare. These songs capture the play's dark and foreboding atmosphere, its themes of ambition, guilt, and retribution, and its iconic characters and events. The Essential Structure of a Macbeth-Inspired Song Whether you're a seasoned bard or a novice songwriter seeking inspiration from the depths of Shakespeare's "Macbeth," crafting a song that truly captures the essence of this timeless tragedy requires a well-defined structure. Here's a comprehensive guide to help you create a haunting and memorable Macbethian masterpiece: 1. Act I: The Call to Darkness Verse 1: Introduce Macbeth as a noble warrior. Chorus: Begin the descent into darkness with the witches' prophecy. Bridge: Dwell on Macbeth's growing ambition and internal conflict. 2. Act II: The Descent into Madness Verse 2: Depict the murder of Duncan, marking the point of no return. Bridge: Explore Macbeth's guilt and paranoia. Chorus: Emphasize the consequences of unchecked ambition. Verse 3: Introduce Lady Macbeth's manipulative role in the tragedy. 3. Act III: The Ghost and the Banquo Supper Verse 4: Describe Macbeth's encounter with Banquo's ghost. Chorus: Continue highlighting the tormenting guilt. Verse 5: Focus on the macabre banquet scene and Lady Macbeth's desperate actions. 4. Act IV: The Weird Sisters Return Verse 6: Reinroduce the witches and their ambiguous prophecies. Chorus: Build tension with the approaching battle. Bridge: Examine the shifting alliances and loyalties. Verse 7: Portray Macduff's determination to avenge Duncan's murder. 5. Act V: The Final Battle and Redemption Verse 8: Describe the brutal battle and Macbeth's eventual defeat. Bridge: Explore the themes of retribution and the consequences of evil. Chorus: Conclude with a somber reflection on the tragedy. Outro: Offer a final glimpse into the aftermath or provide a personal interpretation.
