Cambridge is located 30 miles (48km) from Stansted Airport and 38 miles (61km) from London Luton Airport, with direct trains to Cambridge taking around 30 minutes. Coaches are also available, taking approximately 40 minutes. For those arriving at Heathrow or Gatwick Airports, coaches take around two hours. The fastest trains from Kings Cross to Cambridge take about 50 minutes, while hourly services from Liverpool Street take a bit longer. For travelers in Cambridgeshire, the Cambridgeshire Guided Busway connects major areas like St Ives and Huntingdon. Getting around Cambridge is convenient, with public transport options including walking, buses, and trains. Trains to Ely take 15-20 minutes, while river punts offer a unique perspective on the university's architecture. Visitors can also explore local history through interactive maps and online resources. The Capturing Cambridge project brings historical stories to life, mapping Cambridgeshire's rich heritage from ancient times to the present day. The Museum of Cambridge manages this initiative, which relies on donations from supporters like you. For those interested in exploring Cambridgeshire, consider taking a guided tour or visiting key sites such as Abbey Leisure Complex, Anglesey Abbey, and Audley End House and Gardens. Other attractions include AllTours, Aqua Park Grafham, and St Clement's church for bell-ringing experiences.
