By 2001, there were five locations in the Washington, D.C., metro area. [2] In early 2003, Five Guys began franchising, beginning a period of rapid expansion. In a year and a half, permits had been sold for over 300 franchised locations under development. Their success encouraged the Murrells to franchise their concept the following year, engaging Fransmart, a franchise sales organization. Former American football player Mark Moseley, who had gone to work for Fransmart after his football career, played a key role in Five Guys' expansion and went on to become the company's director of franchise development after it ended its business relationship with Fransmart.[16][18] In early 2003, the chain began franchising, opening the doors to rapid expansion which caught the attention of national restaurant trade organizations and the national press. The expansion started in Virginia and Maryland, and by the end of 2004, over 300 units were in development through the Northeast. Over the next few years, the chain rapidly expanded across the entire United States and into Canada, reaching over 1,000 locations by 2012. [needs update] [citation needed] The patties in your order, add more toppings, or ask for more melted cheese. The reason why Five Guys burgers will have you coming back again and again is because the 100% pure beef is never frozen giving the burgers their signature juicy tenderness. Choose from a large selection of fresh toppings like grilled onions or mushrooms and sauces like BBQ or A1® steak sauce. Pure peanut oil is what makes the fries so amazing. Make sure to try dipping them in malt vinegar for that boardwalk experience! In addition you can find kosher hot dogs, grilled cheese and the classic BLT. A great milkshake will finish off your meal. Here are the top picks from the menu: Bacon Cheeseburger If you are the type to go for the gold, this is the burger for you. Two hot grilled patties of 100% fresh and never frozen ground beef served with American cheese and crispy bacon. Have it topped with any of the many free toppings available to have it just the way you want it. Open wide! This is a monster meal even without the fries at just $5.89. Little Hamburger With only one patty, this little gem lets you still load up on all your favorite free toppings and keep room for plenty of fries. Great for the amazing hot French fries served in a paper bag with malt vinegar on site for dipping. They are cooked to perfection in pure peanut oil making them vegetarian friendly and cholesterol free. Available in traditional with plain salt or Cajun style with a special blend of seasoning. The large is plenty big enough for two to share for $4.99. Milkshake If you are looking for a cool treat then Five Guys has you covered with hand-blended milkshakes made to order. Add any of the 11 Mix-ins for your favorite flavor combination. We recommend chocolate and salted caramel. $3.99. Five Guys History Janie and Jerry Murrell had four sons when they opened the first Five Guys restaurant in Arlington, Virginia in 1986. Jerry along with sons Jim, Matt, Chad and Ben were the original "five guys" followed by a sixth guy, son Tyler, born in 1988. The chain experienced slow expansion for 15 years with only five locations by 2001 as the family worked to perfect operations without sacrificing quality. By 2003 franchising was underway and a rapid expansion grew the restaurant to over 1,000 locations by 2012. In 2013 the chain expanded to include 27 locations in the UK. Fun Fact: The Five Guys
