Last year, the Australian taxation office brought new requirements for real estate sellers to watch the collection of tax liabilities of the resident abroad. On 1 July 2017, the requirements have changed so that more sellers are required to obtain liquidation certificates before the regulation. Do I need an ATO authorization certificate? Only if you sell your own property for $ 750,000 or more. Previously, the sellers were only kept to obtain an ATO authorization certificate if the property was sold for $ 2,000,000 or more. The reduced threshold applies only to the contracts dated or after 1 July 2017. If your contract has been completely signed before this time, the highest threshold will still apply. A € â, ~ "even if the regulation does not. It is still happened. What is a certificate of authorization ato? Essentially, is a statement of the Australian taxation office that you are not a foreign resident. A liquidation certificate is provided to the buyer before the regulation to confirm that L 'Buyer does not need to pay part of the purchase price to the car for tax purposes on behalf of the capitals. What happens if I can't take one? If you sell your own property for $ 750,000 or more, and do not provide the buyer with A certificate of authorization before the regulation, then the buyer is required by the law to deduce 12.5% from the purchase price and pay it to the ATH. This means significant delays in receiving the proceeds of the complete sale. For the property. When should I apply? Before it's better! The current waiting time for a liquidation certificate is 14 to 28 days. However, since the threshold has been reduced, there will be many more sellers who make applications to certificates for certificates and it is possible that waiting times will increase. If you are looking to sell your home for $ 750,000 or more, we suggest you ask a question for a liquidation certificate as soon as possible. The certificates remain valid for 12 months from the date of issue, so you didn't really obtain need to worry about the certificate expiring before the sale. Can I delay the regulation? Do not be able to obtain a liquidation certificate will not allow you to delay the regulation based on a standard contract. If you are concerned not to be able to obtain a certificate before the regulation date under the contract, it is necessary to take into consideration the request for an extension on the regulation or, if possible, by entering a special condition in the contract that allows you to delay. The regulation if a certificate is not available from the settlement date. How to apply the application is easy and there are no commissions involved. Simply visit the ATO website and complete the online application form to start things. If you need assistance, we're here to help. And if I'm a foreign resident? If you are selling your own property for $ 750,000 and more and you are a foreign resident, the buyer will be required to pay 12.5% of the purchase price to be offset by your future CGT passivities. This should be discussed further with your accountant. If you have any questions about ATO authorization certificates, please contact our property team to discuss.
