Cities skylines monorail guide

Stay up to date with the latest daily buzz with BuzzFeed Daily Newsletter! If you've ever wondered which cities are the best in the United States. UU. For pharmacists, look no further than this article. In addition to a combination of datasets, I have ranked almost 400 U.S. cities. UU. To find the best places for pharmacists. Scores were calculated using weighted percentages of each city's average wage, number of pharmaceutical positions, cost of living index, and location ratio, a factor used to reflect the demand for pharmacists in a particular region. Cities that brought life to life. The top 100 places for the list of the best places to live were given a bonus score depending on where they ranked on that list. Here are the 10 best cities in the USA. UU. For pharmacists: 1. Gadsden, Alabama (92.5%) Top of the list, Gadsden is the perfect combination of annual pharmaceutical salary, low cost of living and above average concentration of pharmacists employed. The average annual salary of the Gadsden pharmacist ($155,940) was the second highest on the list, just below Santa Cruz, California ($164,850).2. Brownsville-Harlingen, Texas (92.3%) Only a few fractions of a percentage point below Gadsden is Brownsville-Harlingen. This metropolitan area has the eighth-highest average annual pharmaceutical salary ($139,810) and the sixth-lowest cost of living.3. Anniston-Oxford, Alabama (84.5%) The Anniston and Oxford metropolitan area is the second Alabama location to make this list. Both cities combined have the 5th higher average annual pharmaceutical salary ($140,830) with a relatively low cost of living.4. Huntington, West Virginia; Ashland, Kentucky (83.6%) Average annual pharmaceutical salary for Huntington and Ashland 126,290) It is the lowest of all cities in the top 10, but even thus, in 20% higher in general. These areas benefit from having the third higher location quotient, indicating that the number of pharmaceuticals who work in these cities is more than double the national average.5. Knoxville, Tennessee (82.8%) Knoxville employs the highest number of (890) in the top 10 list, and the average annual salary of the city's pharmacists ($126,880) is also well above the national average.6. Dalton, Georgia (82.1%) Despite having the 27 worst-placed score, Dalton is in the top 10 list due to 7. Danville, Virginia (82%) Despite employing only 70 pharmacists, Danville is ranked #7, and his average annual pharmacist salary ($133,690) puts him in the top 10% overall.8. McAllen-Edinburg-Mission, Texas (81.9%) McAllen-Edinburg-Mission is the second metropolitan area of Texas to make this list, continuing the trend of cities in the southern United States appearing in the top 10. This area employed 440 pharmacists in 2014, with an average annual salary of $132,830.9. Kingsport, Tennessee; Bristol, Virginia (81.6%) The combined Kingsport and Bristol has the highest cost-of-living score of the top 10 cities, but is bolstered by an above-average annual salary of pharmacists ($129,600) and a high concentration of employed pharmacists.10. Esta categorÀa se ponderÀ mÀs reflect the importance of salary in the session of employment. It is important to keep in mind that BLS BLS Some of your data sets in multiple cities. For example, the group «Los À NieleÀs» also includes data from Long Beach and Santa Ana; However, for simplicity, it was included in the second table as à c@egheals. The national average. The smaller the score of the cost of living, the lower the cost of living in that particular city compared to the national average. The location quotient was included to measure the pharmaceutical concentration that work in a given area in Comparison with the national average. Therefore, a smaller location quotient may suggest less than pharmaceuticals demand, while a higher number can correlate a higher demand. The number of pharmaceutical jobs per city will be less, But it was included to reward cities that employed a higher number of pharmacians.Finally, the cities that made the list of the 100 best places to live from Livability 2016 received a bonus of up to 10%, depending on where classified. The habitability rankings were created from 45 data points in 8 categories.
