Warframe fortuna moa guide

Makes enemies an easy target. The damage reduction is no joke, especially when hugging those squishy Sortie Defense targets. Mastery is tied to the Model. All values double when gilded. It's so effective, that I'm really surprised they haven't put a cap on to how many enemies it can affect at a time. I believe Tractor Beam's 100% uptime is to blame for the bug, as removing it will allow this mod to function. Preview complete Moa with any parts. Keeps any pesky melee enemies out of the Stasis Field bubble. Other Warframe Guides: Intro Because I'd hate to see new content go months without any documentation as it was for Zaws and Amps. I've had this guide prepped and ready for several months now in anticipation of, well, my most anticipated content yet. Requires Doer rank with Solaris United. It can also spawn friendly Moas in Corpus tilesets by hacking Moa Cabinet Spawners, but again, is currently bugged. Obviously a nice thing to have in Spy and Rescue missions. Scales with its level. Lambeo This model is built for defense, deploying the Stasis Field and Shockwave Actuator precepts. Speaking to Legs allows you to: Exchange Solaris United standing for Models, Cores, Gears, Brackets and Moa weapons. I would like to preface this by saying that, in the end, the choices given are so negligible that you should not feel bad about simply designing a Moa that looks good rather than min-maxing because there is so little min-maxing to actually take advantage of. Purchase a pre-built Moa with Platinum consisting of random parts that are shuffled daily. When you're near your Moa and aim while airborne, you'll float in place if staying still or move incredibly slow in the direction you were moving. Brief documentation on how to build and maintain your new robotic operating buddy. Our very own Moas! And with a vacuum feature right off the bat! These little guys are the most quality of quality-of-life companions; giving the flesh and blood options a serious run for their money. Not sure why they call him Legs. Rename Moas for a 15p fee. Donate Moas you no longer need in exchange for Solaris United standing. Legs' Pets & Parts A member of Solaris United offering you parts to construct your own MOA companion in exchange for Solaris United standing. In any case, I do hope you find some use out of the documentation here and check back occasionally as more content is added to these new systems. I think this is easily my favorite mod of the bunch. Health+5.0% Shields+7.5% Armor +2.5% Krisys - This core features durable armour, but weak shields. Alcrom - A well-balanced core. Duration stacks with other mods that extend Aim Glide. You should not feel bad for exchanging this for a different precept despite the model. Cores The second part of your Moa. Determines another percentage of health, shields and armor on top of your Core stats. You've been on the receiving end of this thing before so you know what to expect. Health+5.0% Shields+5.0% Armor +5.0% Drex - This core features strong shields, but light armor. Currently bugged, but its at least a good sign that you will immediately notice it rushing towards any terminal that needs to be hacked. Lobs out a grenade that lifts everything up and up for several seconds or until they come in contact with a ceiling. Any glide movement will cease indefinitely if Zephyr uses the effects of this mod. Gild your Moa companion for stat boosts and mastery once they reach level 30. Pair with something like Volt shields and you'll all be snug and safe in a decently-sized AoE. Oloro This model is built for utility, using the Tractor Beam and Security Override precepts. Any fully modded build will be able to survive all the same considering how the Link mods are tied to your Warframe's survivability stats. Slurps up all enemies in a good area to the same point, allowing you to blast them with an AoE weapon or effect. Finally gives some synergy to a bunch of Airborne-based mods, ESPECIALLY the new Pax Soar arcane for Kitguns. Health+5.0% Shields+2.5% Armor +7.5% Gyros The third and final part of your MOA. Aegron* Health -2.5% Shields +2.5% Armor +5.0% Atheca Health +10.0% Shields -2.5% Armor -2.5% Harpen Health +2.5% Shields +5.0% Armor -2.5% Hextra Health +5.0% Shields +2.5% Armor -2.5% Munit Health +5.0% Shields -2.5% Armor +2.5% Phazor Health -2.5% Shields +5.0% Armor +2.5% Trux Health +2.5% Shields -2.5% Armor +5.0% * = Requires Rapsallion Rank = Requires Doer Rank = Requires Cove Rank Models The first choice when constructing your MOA. Makes a complete joke out of any " while Airborne" Riven challenges. Determines its base health, shields and armor. It's pretty neat that they're finally adding gravity-based fall damage to some degree, and some testing is required to find out if things like Sonitor can amplify the "Impact Damage x Height Achieved" numbers. Very handy for reaching mining nodes on cave ceilings as well. Determines the two mod precepts that will be available to it. Para This model is built for offense, utilizing the Whiplash Mine and Anti-Grav Grenade precepts. Doesn't go off enough in my opinion even when listed as the first precept in the modding screen. These Moas can not regenerate shields so Mag is a good partner for them in modes like Survival if you want to amass an army. Once you've built all three they may as well be a cosmetic option, seeing as any two precepts can be equipped on any other model with no conflict. This thing really is a blast. Pairs very well with the above if used in succession. Projects a great big bubble around the Moa, protecting anything within it. Hacks any console in roughly 5 seconds.
