Back Over 3.5 goals betting tips or over 3.5 goals predictions are not so widely used as 2.5 tips, but they have their own advantages. Odds for over 3.5 goals are fairly high and picking that kind of tip is returning a good amount of money. Odds usually start from 3.00 in decimal and increase during the match minutes advance.Over 3.5 goals means you expect at least 4 goals in the match. Most importantly you don't care which team will score the goals or which half they will be scored in. You will always get a winning outcome as long as there are 4 goals or more.So, how to spot games for over 3.5 goals betting tips? First research the stats. Each game on our website supplies a big amount of info about goals that teams have scored in their last rounds. Choose teams that have at least 65% ratio of resulting in over 3.5 goals matches. Then pay attention to injuries and suspensions for the upcoming fixture. You don't want top strikers or any top goal scorers injured. Finally, avoid derby games. Derbies are often poor on goals and rich on other stats like corners and cards as no team would want to disappoint their supporters and lose a derby game. Having all that in mind research multiple sources and do your over 3.5 goals prediction. Rate this page: (4.04 avg rating out of 5 based on 534 votes.) Remember, the statistics used in the example below come from last season. The stats displayed in the table above are the current campaign numbers. Together they cover short term and long term trends, use these patterns to make smarter bets. BEST LEAGUES FOR OVER 4.5 If we take a high-level view of the top European Leagues, we see the Dutch Eredivisie is the best league for games ending over 4.5 goals. In 2019/20 the Eredivisie average was 20.3%. The worst major football league for Over 4.5 goals in 2019/20 was La Liga (Spain) at 10.3%. Closely followed by the English Premier League at 11.6%. The second best place for finding goals was the Bundesliga. Matches in the German league ended in Over 4.5 goals at the rate of 19.9%, slightly below the Dutch average but higher than the French Ligue One rate (11.1%). Punters should also look closely at Serie A. Italian football has a reputation for high, low scoring games. Yet, in reality, the league has a higher Over 4.5 goal rate (14.7%) than the Premier League and Ligue One. BEST TEAMS FOR OVER 4.5 GOALS Now we've looked at the various leagues; it's time to look at the individual teams. We'll start with clubs in the leagues which had the best overall stats for Over 4.5 goals. DUTCH CLUBS In 2019/20 season, the following Dutch teams had the highest percentage of matches ending Over 4.5. The club with the best record was Ajax Amsterdam (36%), behind them was Fortuna Sittard (35%) and Feyenoord (28%). Fortuna Sittard enjoyed a slightly higher rate (38%) at home. Ajax stats also improved to 38% when playing at home. AZ Alkmaar (8%) and FC Groninger (0%) had the lowest chances of being involved in games Over 4.5 goals during the 2019/20 season. GERMAN CLUBS Dortmund (26%) and Bayern Munich (32%) both had an excellent record in 2019/20 for games which ended Over 4.5 goals. RB Leipzig away from home were also a decent option at 35%. FC Augsburg on the road (29%) could be worth a look too. Teams to avoid included: Union Berlin (12%), Hertha Berlin (15%) and Freiburg (6%). At home, Freiburg recorded a 0% of games Over 4.5. BEST OF THE REST In this section, we'll look at the teams who buck trends for their leagues. First up is Barcelona, although La Liga has one of the lowest rates of Over 4.5 goals, Barcelona still manages to rack up the goals. In 2019/20 they had a 26% overall rate, nevertheless, away from the Camp Nou, that figure jumped to 37%. In the French first division, PSG were the kings of the big scoreline, 36% of all their games went Over 4.5 goals. Monaco matched that number, but only when they played at home. In the Premier League, it was Manchester City who had the best record. 26% of their matches ended in Over 4.5 goals. The only club to better improve on those stats was West Ham at home (26%). I've saved the best till last, Italian side Atalanta smashed it out of the park in 2019/20 with an incredible 37% of their games ended over 4.5! If you look at the current stats, you'll see that Atalanta is doing well again this season. If we look closely at the Over 5.5 statistics by league, we can see some intriguing patterns develop. We'll be using the stats for 2019/20 season as our guide in this section. However, the stats on this page (above table) show the information for the current season. PREMIER LEAGUE The English Premier League has a reputation for producing entertaining football, with plenty of goals. Fans could be forgiven for thinking it would be a decent league for Over 5.5 purposes. However, nothing could be further from the truth. Statistically, the Premier League has a low number of games with big scorelines. On average, just 2.9% of matches end in Over 5.5 goals. The 2.9% number is an overall league average. Yet, specific teams are involved in high scoring matches more often than the league average. The club with the highest percentage of games over 5.5 in the 2019/20 season was Chelsea at 8%. Villa, City, United and Liverpool all managed 5%. Splitting the stats between 'home and away' performances shows Liverpool's over 5.5 goals rate at Anfield was 11%. Chelsea's percentage rate went up to 16% when playing away from Stamford Bridge. However, the fact remains that the Premier League is not a happy hunting ground for Over 5.5 backers. EREDIVISIE (NETHERLANDS) If you're looking for a league with bags of goals, try the Dutch Eredivisie. In 2019/20 the league had a 10.3% rate of games ending Over 5.5. That's much higher than the Premier League (2.9%), La Liga (4.5%) and France's Ligue One (4.3%). A 10.3% rate is high, but remember, that's a combined league rate. Individual teams do even better. Feyenoord beat the league average with 16% of their games ending Over 5.5 goals. That number went up to 25% when they played away from home. Ajax was another club who did better on the road. The Amsterdam based side posted an average of 8% at home. However, when Ajax played away, the percentage rate climbed to 17%. So, the Dutch league is well worth studying. LIGUE 1 (FRANCE) As mentioned earlier, the French Ligue 1 has a low over 5.5 goal rate at 4.3%. It's higher than the Premier League but lower than the Dutch league. However, that doesn't tell the whole story. In Ligue 1 specific clubs can be involved in high scoring games. PSG and Monaco are the two teams which can land you with lots of goals. PSG games have ended over 5.5 at a rate of 15%. Monaco is just behind the Parisians on 11%. Both clubs have a stronger possibility of racking up large scorelines playing at home. BUNDESLIGA The Bundesliga offers opportunities for those looking to back the Over 5.5 market. In 2019/20 approximately 9.5% of games ended in over 5.5. In particular, a few clubs were responsible for that high percentage rate. As expected, Dortmund (21%) and Bayern Munich (18%) were top of the table when it came to high scoring games. Frankfurt was also involved in goal-fest games. 15% of their matches ended Over 5.5. When playing away from home, the stats improved to 18%. Interestingly, Wolfsburg (3%) and Union Berlin (0%) had the lowest number of matches with big scorelines. SERIE A Serie A is another source of high scoring games. In the Italian league, a healthy 9.2% of games finished over 5.5 goals. Two-thirds of Serie A teams recorded an 8% or higher rate percentage of matches ending over 5.5. The team with the highest percentage rate in 2019/20 was Sassuolo (18%) closely followed by Sampdoria on 13%. Atalanta, Roma and Lazio also matched that figure. Sassuolo's percentage goes up to 26% at home, and Cagliari also posted impressive numbers at home (21%). Away from home, four teams posted 16% Over 5.5 goals: Napoli, Brescia, Atalanta and AS Roma. Udinese and Genoa should be avoided; both clubs have the lowest rate of matches ending in over 5.5 goals. over 3.5 tips today. over 3.5 goals free tips today. best over 3.5 tips today
